They surrendered to the Native Americans who took them as prisoners to their camp near Fort Dearborn. History: American History Urban History. Keating estimates that the Native American population of the states surrounding Lake Michigan was about 30, people at the time and consisted of about a dozen tribes, including the Potawatomi, Odawas, Ojibwas Chippewas Shawnee, Miami, Fox, Ho-Chunk Winnebagos and the Sauk.

The only detractor in the writing is the repetition of facts throughout the book. In August under threat from the Potawatomi, Captain Nathan Heald began the evacuation of ninety-four people from the isolated outpost of Fort Dearborn to Fort Wayne. Gordon, Nelly Kinzie ed. It was verrrrrrrry detailed and had a cast of characters in the thousands, but was well worth the investment.

The old Fort Dearborn, the original settlement, was at what is now Michigan and details. Ann Durkin Keating.
